BRIEF ABSTRACT OF LETTER.

I submits report on the first conference of Cooperative Societies in the Tumkur D held at Tumkur on the 28th, 29th & 30th May 1913.

NOTES AND ORDERS.

This conference owes its inception mostly to official efforts in a marked contrast to the previous conferences. From the list of the gentlemen that attended the conference. From para 2 of the letter it will be seen that the official element formed the bulk of attendance. It was the Senior Inspector of Co-operative Societies that began the proceedings of the conference by reading a report on the progress of the movement in the Trunk [illegible] The Dy Commissioner Tyagaraja Iyer was at home to the delegates & the entertainment was on a lavish scale. Right in the middle of the progs of the conference the Chingleput Chetti took the opportunity of speaking on the Anyone Bank. How it was opportune to speak on Anyone Bank is not clear. The connection between the co-operative society & the Anyone Bank is hard to trace.

As regards the resolutions [illegible]

stereotyped more or less.

Resolution 6. expresses that Govt help rendered so far as enough & that, further concessions are uncalled for.

Resolution 9 re grant & utilization of loans & its eventual repayment is well stated.

Resolution 12 states the desirability of forming Federal Unions for purposes of both inspection & finance.

Resolution 14 is about formation of Jaggery cooperative Societies wherever there are a 100 acres under cane cultivation In view of the controversy in the Press about its being a paying concern, it was rather hasty on the part of the delegates to pass a definite resolution on the subject.

Resolutions 18 & 19 request the Collectors aid to foster the movement. The Collectors may aid the movement by their sympathetic interest

To

K.R. Srinivasa Iyengar Esq., M.A.
Secretary to the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore, General & Revenue
Departments, B a n g a l o r e.

Sir,

I have the honor to submit the following report regarding the first Conference of the Co-Operative Societies in the Tumkur District which was held at Tumkur in the Hall of the Government High School on the 28th, 29th, and 30th May 1913. I spoke about its value at a public meeting on the 4th May presided over by the Deputy Commissioner Mr. V.R. Thyagaraja Iyer and attended by about 50 delegates from the Co-Operative Societies in the Tumkur Taluk and the idea was warmly taken up by every member present. It was unanimously resolved to hold the First Tumkur District Conference on the dates mentioned, when the District Board and the District Economic Conference would also meet. A Reception Committee was formed with Mr. C. Seshadri Iyengar as President and Messrs. C.D. Ramaswamaiya and M. Venkataramaiya as Hony: Secretaries who, in consultation with the Registrar of Co-Operative

Societies

Societies in Mysore, arranged all the preliminary details of the Conference. Invitations were issued to all the Co-Operative Societies in the Tumkur District, and they were requested to send from two to five delegates to take part in its deliberations. Thirty three out of the fifty eight Societies in the District responded to the invitation and sent 82 delegates to the Conference. The Reception Committee collected public subscriptions to the extent of Rs.100 and made satisfactory arrangements for the boarding and lodging of the delegates in the Students' Hostel attached to the High School which had been kindly placed at its disposal by the Inspector General of Education.

2. The Conference began its sittings on Wednesday th 28th instant at 8.30 A.M. Besides the delegates the following gentlemen were present:-

3. Mr. C. Seshadri Iyengar, the President of the Reception Committee, welcomed the delegates in a few well-chosen words and proposed Mr. V.R. Thyagaraja Iyer, Deputy Commissioner, to the Chair. The proposal was seconded by Mr. C.D. Ramaswamaiya and supported by Mr. H. Venkataramaiya. Mr. Ramanujiengar of Kadaba thanked the Reception Committee, on behalf of the delegates, for the warm welcome accorded to them and for the splendid arrangements made for their comfort.

4. Mr. V.R. Thyagaraja Iyer next took the Chair and delivered the following address:--

Gentlemen,

I have not had much time for the preparation of a speech; I hope therefore you will not take it amiss if my speech is short.

The first question perhaps which a President is expected to answer is whether there is any necessity for a Conference of delegates from all parts of the District.

I think there can be but one reply. The meeting enables the delegates to compare notes, to find out their deficiencies, and to draw up a programme for future improvement of the many Co-Operative Societies in the Distri Some may be in indifferent condition and they will learn a great deal from other Societies which are enthusiastic and progressive. Such Conferences have also done good in other Districts.

The second question which a President may be expected to answer is why a Revenue officer is asked to preside at this Conference.

A Revenue officer is engaged in the prosaic and at times far from pleasant task of collecting revenues and he must therefore welcome every opportunity of displaying an active interest in promoting the welfare of the people.

The third question which a President may be expected to dilate upon is in what way Co-Operation differs from other forms of Social help and how it is expected to ameliorate the condition of the people.

On this point, my friend Mr. Narayan Ayangar is a better authority than myself and I shall therefore content myself with pointing out that in every country where Co-Operative Credit Societies have flourished, the moral and material condition of the people have improved.

5. At the conclusion of the Presidential address Mr. H. Venkataramaiya, one of the Hony: Secretaries, read letters expressing regret at inability to attend the Conference and wishing it all success from the following gentlemen:-

1. M. Shama Rao, I. C. of Education.

2. K. Srinivasa Rao, Deputy Commissioner, Shimoga.

3. D. Appa Rao, Retired District Superintendent of Survey.

4. H.R. Srinivasa Rao, Hony: Organiser, Hassan.

5. S. Venkatesaiya, Advocate and Secretary, Hassan Co-Operative Union.

6. Revd: Tomlinson of Gubbi and others. The letters were recorded with thanks.

6. Mr. E. Rama Rao, Senior Inspector of Co-Operative Societies, read a report [redacted] showing the progres of the Co-Operative movement in the Tumkur District in which he showed that Tumkur was contributing very much more than its due share to the success of the movement in the State. He produced statistics to show that in membership, capital, total transactions, profits, and reserve the proportion of the Tumkur District to the State was as 1 is to 5. (Mr. Krishnappa read a report describir the working of the Tumkur Society) the most important institution in the District (vide appendix A.) Mr. Rama R also gave the salient points in the working of the principal societies in the District.

7. The next item on the programme was the reading of theses. Mr. M. Ramachandriah read a paper on Co-Operatio and its uses in the course of which he pointed out the manifold purposes to which Co-Operation could be put. He said that here, as elsewhere, credit was the form which Co-Operation had taken and that the time had now arrived for undertaking other forms of Co-Operation. Mr. T. Visveswaraiya read a paper on Co-Operation and Education. He pointed out that it was in the more progressive countri where the general level of education was high, the Co-Operation was making the greatest progress. He urged that we should try to spread Education among the masses and that, in particular, arrangements should be made for some Co-Operative training in schools and Colleges.

Mr. H. Venkata Ramaiya next read a paper on the Economic condition of Mysore. He showed that the scope for the expansion of the Co-Operative movement in the State was almost unlimited and that, in particular, the necessity for agricultural Co-Operation was very great. Mr. Narahari Rao read a paper describing the Social and moral effects of Co-Operative Societies on their members. Mr. K. Chengaiya Chetti took this opportunity of explaining to the assembly the prospects of the newly constituted Mysore Bank. Mr. P. Rama Rao of OOTY expressed his gratification at the firm hold the Co-Operative movement had taken in the Tumkur District and at the intelligence and enthusiasm which were displayed in its cause. While congratulating the delegates on what they had achieved, he hoped that they would soon think of striking out such new paths as Co-Operative housing, Co-Operative farming, and Co-Operativ dairying. After the Election of Committees to discuss, and draft resolutions on, the subjects on the agenda, the Conference rose for the day.

The Conference met at 8.30 A.M. on Thursday the 29th under the Presidency of Mr. K. Chengaiya Chetti, Retired Deputy Commissioner and Director of the Mysore Bank on account of the unavoidable absence of Mr. V. R. Thyagaraja Iyer, Deputy Commissioner. The delegates proceeded to a discussion of the subjects before it. Six of them were disposed of. The sitting continued till 12 noon when it rose for the day.

In the afternoon, Mr. V.R. Thyagaraja Iyer was at home to the delegates and to all the principal men of the District. The grounds of Dobbs House, His official residence were tastefully decorated and refreshments were provided to the guests on a lavish scale. Tennis, Music, acrobatic performances, and sword exercises kept the guests fully engaged. A most pleasant evening was brought to a close by a first rate theatrical performance which was enjoyed immensely by the delegates. The thanks of the Conference are due to Mr. V.R. Thyagaraja Iyer for his lavish hospitality, thoughtfulness and courtesy to its members.

The Conference met again at 8.30 A.M. on Friday the 30th May under the presidency of Mr. V.R. Thyagaraja Iyer. Mr. S. Krishna Rao, Munsiff, delivered a speech on Co-operation and litigation. He said that it would at first sight appear as if Co-Operation would increase litigation by increasing the prosperity of the people, and he pointed out that this result was opposed to the spirit of Co-Operation. He showed that in the managing Committee of a Co-Operative Society was to be found the nucleus of a body which could be utilized to settle disputes arising within villages. He also advocated the formation of libraries attached to Co-Operative Societies and he urged every sincere Co-operator to try and do his best to promote the progress of Co-Operation.

The Conference next proceeded to discuss the subjects which could not be taken up the previous day. The sitting continued till 12 noon, but as all the subjects could not be disposed, it was arranged to meet again at 3 in the afternoon. As the Deputy Commissioner expressed his inability to preside in the afternoon, the Registrar proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. V.R. Thyagaraja Iyer for the patience, courtesy, and sympathy with which he conducted the proceedings.

As arranged in the morning, the delegates assembled at 3 P.M. Mr. A. Krishnaswami Iyengar, Sub Division Officer, Maddagiri, was voted to the chair. All the subjects which were placed before the Conference were disposed of. The resolutions which were passed by the

Conference

Conference are given at the end of this report. I shall only mention here that I have been requested to start Societies in about 40 villages in different Talukas in the Tumkur District. People have already come forward to manage these institutions when they are started. I shall do the needful in the matter an early date.

The enthusiasm displayed by the delegates was most gratifying to me and my hearty thanks are due to Messrs. Thyagaraja Iyer, Chengaiya Chetti, C.D. Ramaswamaiya, C. Seshadri Iyengar, H. Venkataramaiya and the other gentlemen who have, by their work in connection with this Conference helped to review the position of Co-Operation in the District and paved the way for its rapid expansion.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

M A Narasimhan

Resolutions arrived at by the delegates of Co-operative Societies in the Tumkur District at the First Tumkur District Co-operative Conference held at Tumkur on the 28th, 29th and 30th May 1913.

----------: oXo :----------

I. That as Banking is confined chiefly to the Sahukars of the District from whom the ryot cannot find ready - accommodation and as the rate of interest usually charged by the money-lender varies from 18 to 24 %., Co-operative Societies should be established at all suitable centres in the District to enable the agriculturist, the artizan etc to carry on his pursuit by providing him with facile - credit.

II. A brief report on the working of the Co-operative Societies was read by Mr. E. Rama Rao, Senior Inspector of Co-operative Societies. On the date of the Conferenc fifty-eight Societies were working in the District with a membership of 4,742 and with a working capital of - Rs.1,29,785. The Societies had done business to the extent of Rs.10,21,742/- and had earned a net profit of about Rs.10,000/-. The total reserve accumulated was Rs.4,785/-.

III. That in order to place cheap credit at the disposal, chiefly, of the agriculturists who form the bulk of the population in the State required for their operations during the different seasons of the year and to educate them in general by the demonstration of the improved - methods of cultivation etc., Co-operative Societies shoul be started at all villages where literate enthusiasts are forthcoming for working the Societies, as also these institutions, wherever they have been started, have endeavoured to uplift the moral, social and economic condition condition of the members.

IV. That copies of the Regulation, Rules framed thereunder and of the Bye-laws applying to a society must be kept in a conspicuous place in the society for the information of the members, so as to enable them to know their rights and responsibilities in the Societies to which they belong.

V. That in the matter of keeping the Registers and accounts in a Co-operative Society the office bearers should, as far as possible, adhere to the rules framed and the headings prescribed by the Registrar in this behalf and that they should use the Registers printed at the instance of the Registrar at the Caxton or the Irish Press of Bangalore, as the headings of those books have been carefully drawn up with a view to minimise the difficulties in the audit of the accounts of the Society.

VI. That the privileges granted so far by the Government to Co-operative Societies, such as the ~~emo~~exemptions for stamp and Registration fees, free audit and control of Societies by the Government, etc., are enough for the present and that further concessions are uncalled for.

VII. The leaflet on the advantages of Unlimited liability issued by the Registrar was read to the Conference and it was resolved that as the main object of the rural Societies was to get cheap capital from outside by the combined credit of the members, they should invariably undertake the Unlimited liability, whereas limited liability was suitable to the urban Societies in which the membership was large and the required capital generally raised by shares and deposits.

VIII. That as the success of Co-operative Societies depended chiefly on the intelligence, tact and enthusiasm displayed by the office bearers in the management of the Societies, the general body must take great care in electing the Committee of Management and that the Committee must understand their duties well which are, to some extent, defined in the Bye-laws and which must be discharged by them with honesty, ability and integrity of purpose.

It was further resolved that the Registrar should make arrangements to give training to such of the persons as are willing to serve as office bearers in Co-operative Societies.

IX. That no loan should be issued to a member without the committee scrutinizing the application always adherein to the Bye-laws and the Rules framed thereunder, that that should be used for productive and necessary purposes only, that the period of the loan should, in no case, exceed the time required for the fructification of the loan and that the rate of interest charged should, as a general rule, be less than the local rate of interest.

It was also impressed upon the members that the Committee should always see that the loan is used for the purpose for which it was raised, a neglect of this principle entailing an immediate recall of the loan.

X. The main object of the Co-operative Societies bein the encouragement of thrift among the members that the Societies should in addition to the allotment of shares, also perform the functions of a Savings Bank and attract deposits from both members and non-members, that in order to do this work satisfactorily, each Society should frame suitable rules, the chief points to be kept in view in framing these rules being facility of investment and - withdrawal and a slightly higher rate of interest than is obtainable in the Government or Postal Savings Banks.

XI. That as each society must first endeavour to build up its working capital, before it can think of transacting business and as the chief sources of such a capital are, shares, loans and deposits, all possible efforts - must be made to tap the local capital which must be attracted by way of long-termed deposits offering interest at rates ranging from $4\frac{1}{2}$ to $6\frac{1}{2}$ % according to the length of the term for which the dposits are attracted.

XII. That just as it is advantageous for the residents of a given area to combine together to form a Co-operative Society, so it is profitable to the societies to group themselves into Federal Bodies for purposes both of finances and inspection, and that such Federal Co-operative Banking Unions should be started at the Taluk Head Quarter if there happen to be 10 or 15 Societies in the Taluk.

XIII. That at each Taluk Head Quarter, Associations must be formed consisting of Representative Assembly members, District and Local Fund Board members and other gentlemen interested in Co-operation, for purposes of preaching - Co-operation and starting societies at suitable places.

XIV. That wherever more than a hundred acres of land is under Sugar-cane cultivation, that there is scope there for a Co-operative jaggory society based on the rules framed by the Registrar and that these Societies should with the assistance of the Registrar and the Director of Industries and Commerce instal the machinery required and

XV. That Co-operative dairy farming was an exceedingly useful form of Co-operation both to milk-sellers and the public in general and that efforts might be made to start Co-operative Associations for carrying out dairy farming in all suitable localities.

XVI. That one of the chief functions of a rural socie should be the making of arrangements for purchasing at wholesale rates the requirements of the agriculturists such as improved ploughs, better manure etc., and for selling them to members for retail prices and also for collecting the produce of each member at the harvest tim and finding the best market for the same.

XVII. That the Co-operative Bulletin which is now bein published by Mr. K.S. Krishna Iyer of the Irish Press at the instance of the Registrar must be subscribed for by every Co-operative Society in the District and circulate among the members as it is a convenient means of diffusi Co-operative knowledge and of ensuring the progress of Co-operation in the State.

XVIII. That the Amildars present at the meeting be requeste to select the villages best suited for the formation of Co-operative Societies and to report the names of such villages to the Registrar for making arrangements to sta Societies at those places.

XIX. That the Amildars be requested to select compete men in their jurisdiction and to recommend them to the Registrar for appointing them as Honorary Supervisors.

XX. That the Registrar should make arrangements for holding classes to give lessons on the method of startin Societies and managing their affairs if more than ten persons signify their willingness to undergo training.
